Art work by W.B. Holcomb

we are a microcosm small in number of varied interest
yet
large in ambition high with aspiration and profoundly buried in expressions the seasons spent here have cultivated our minds and yielded us to the many other facets

of life

Within you
there is a stillness and sanctuary
to which you can retreat at any time and be yourself.

— HERMANN HESSE

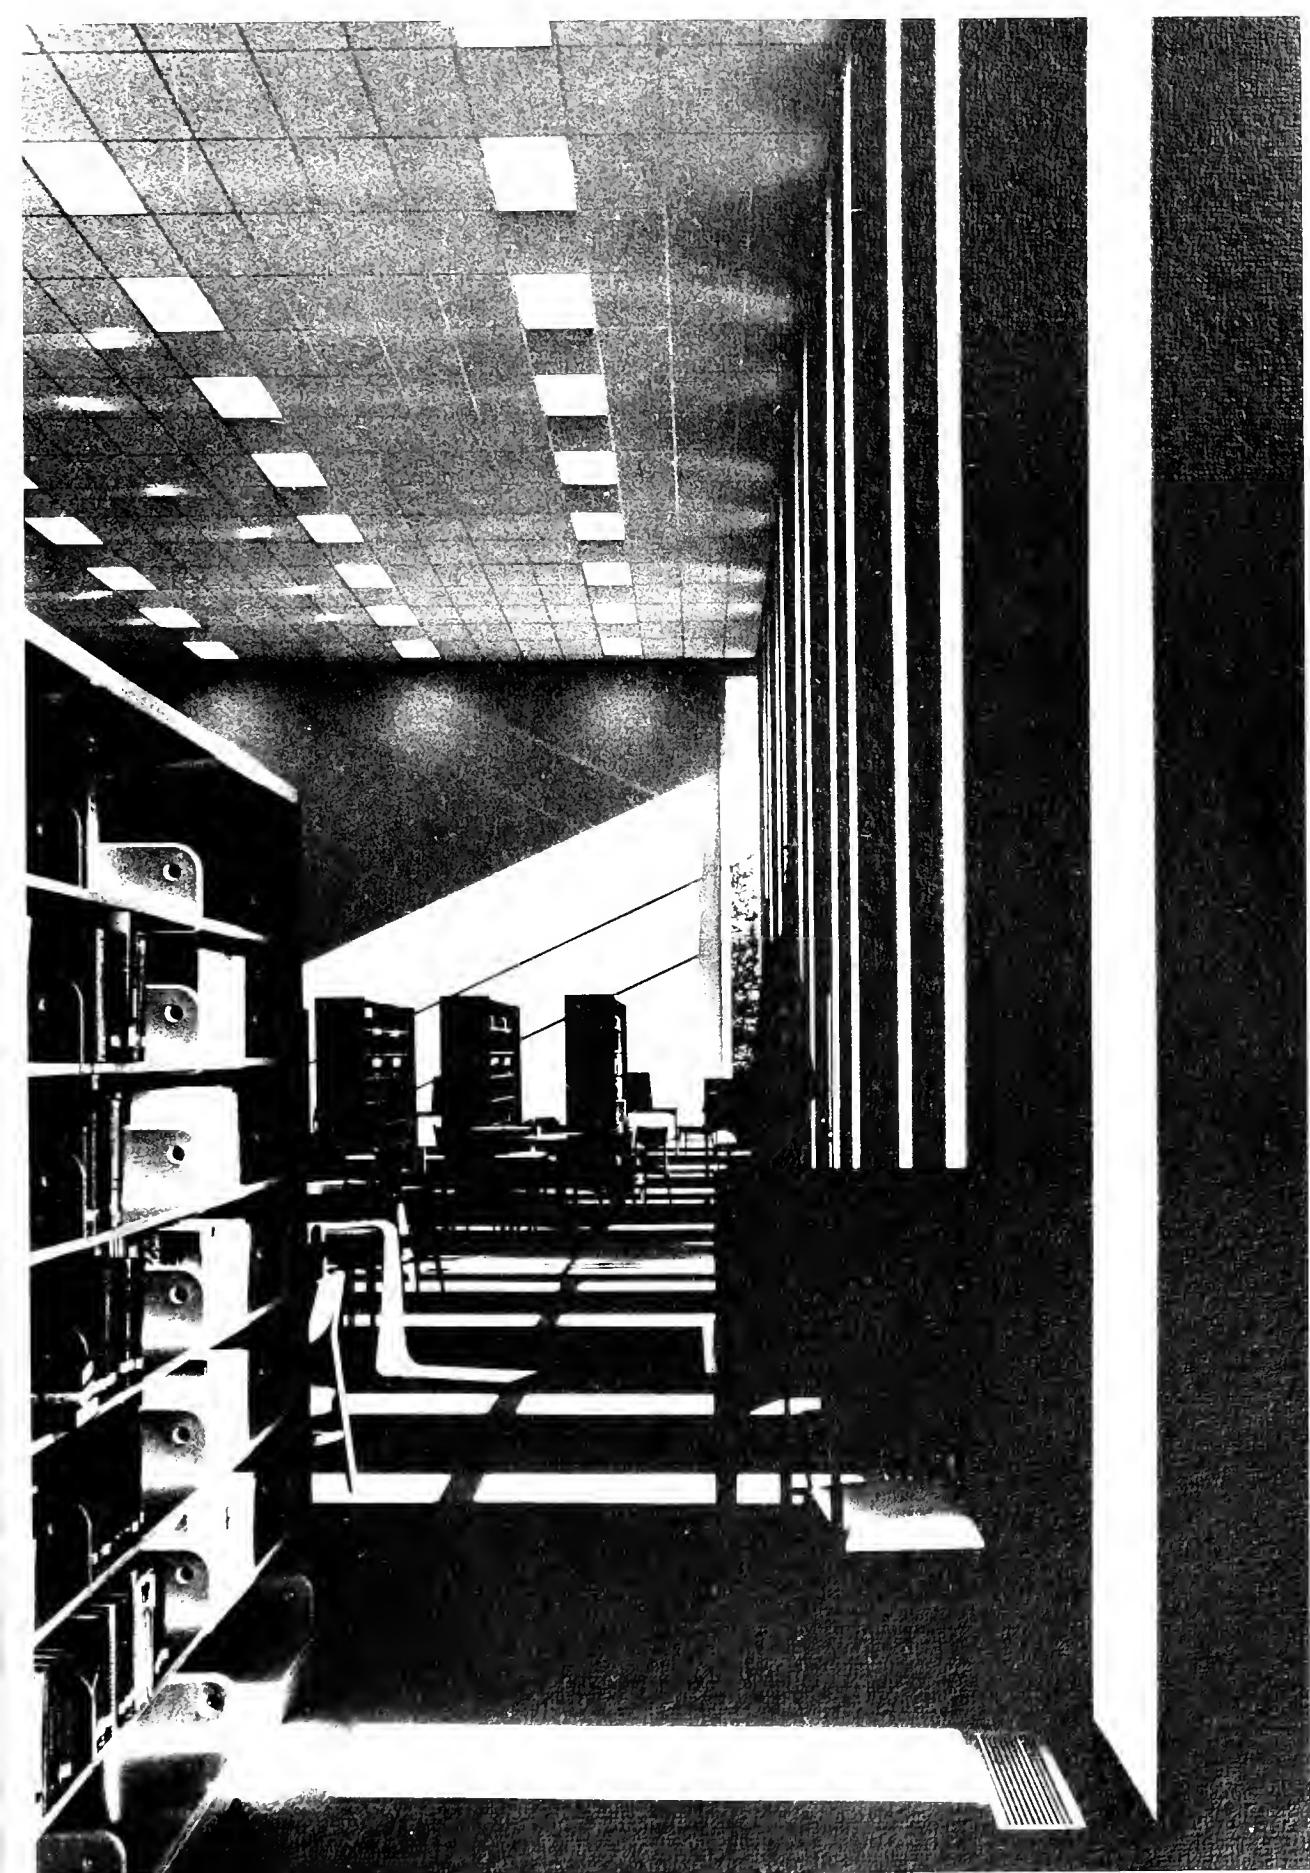

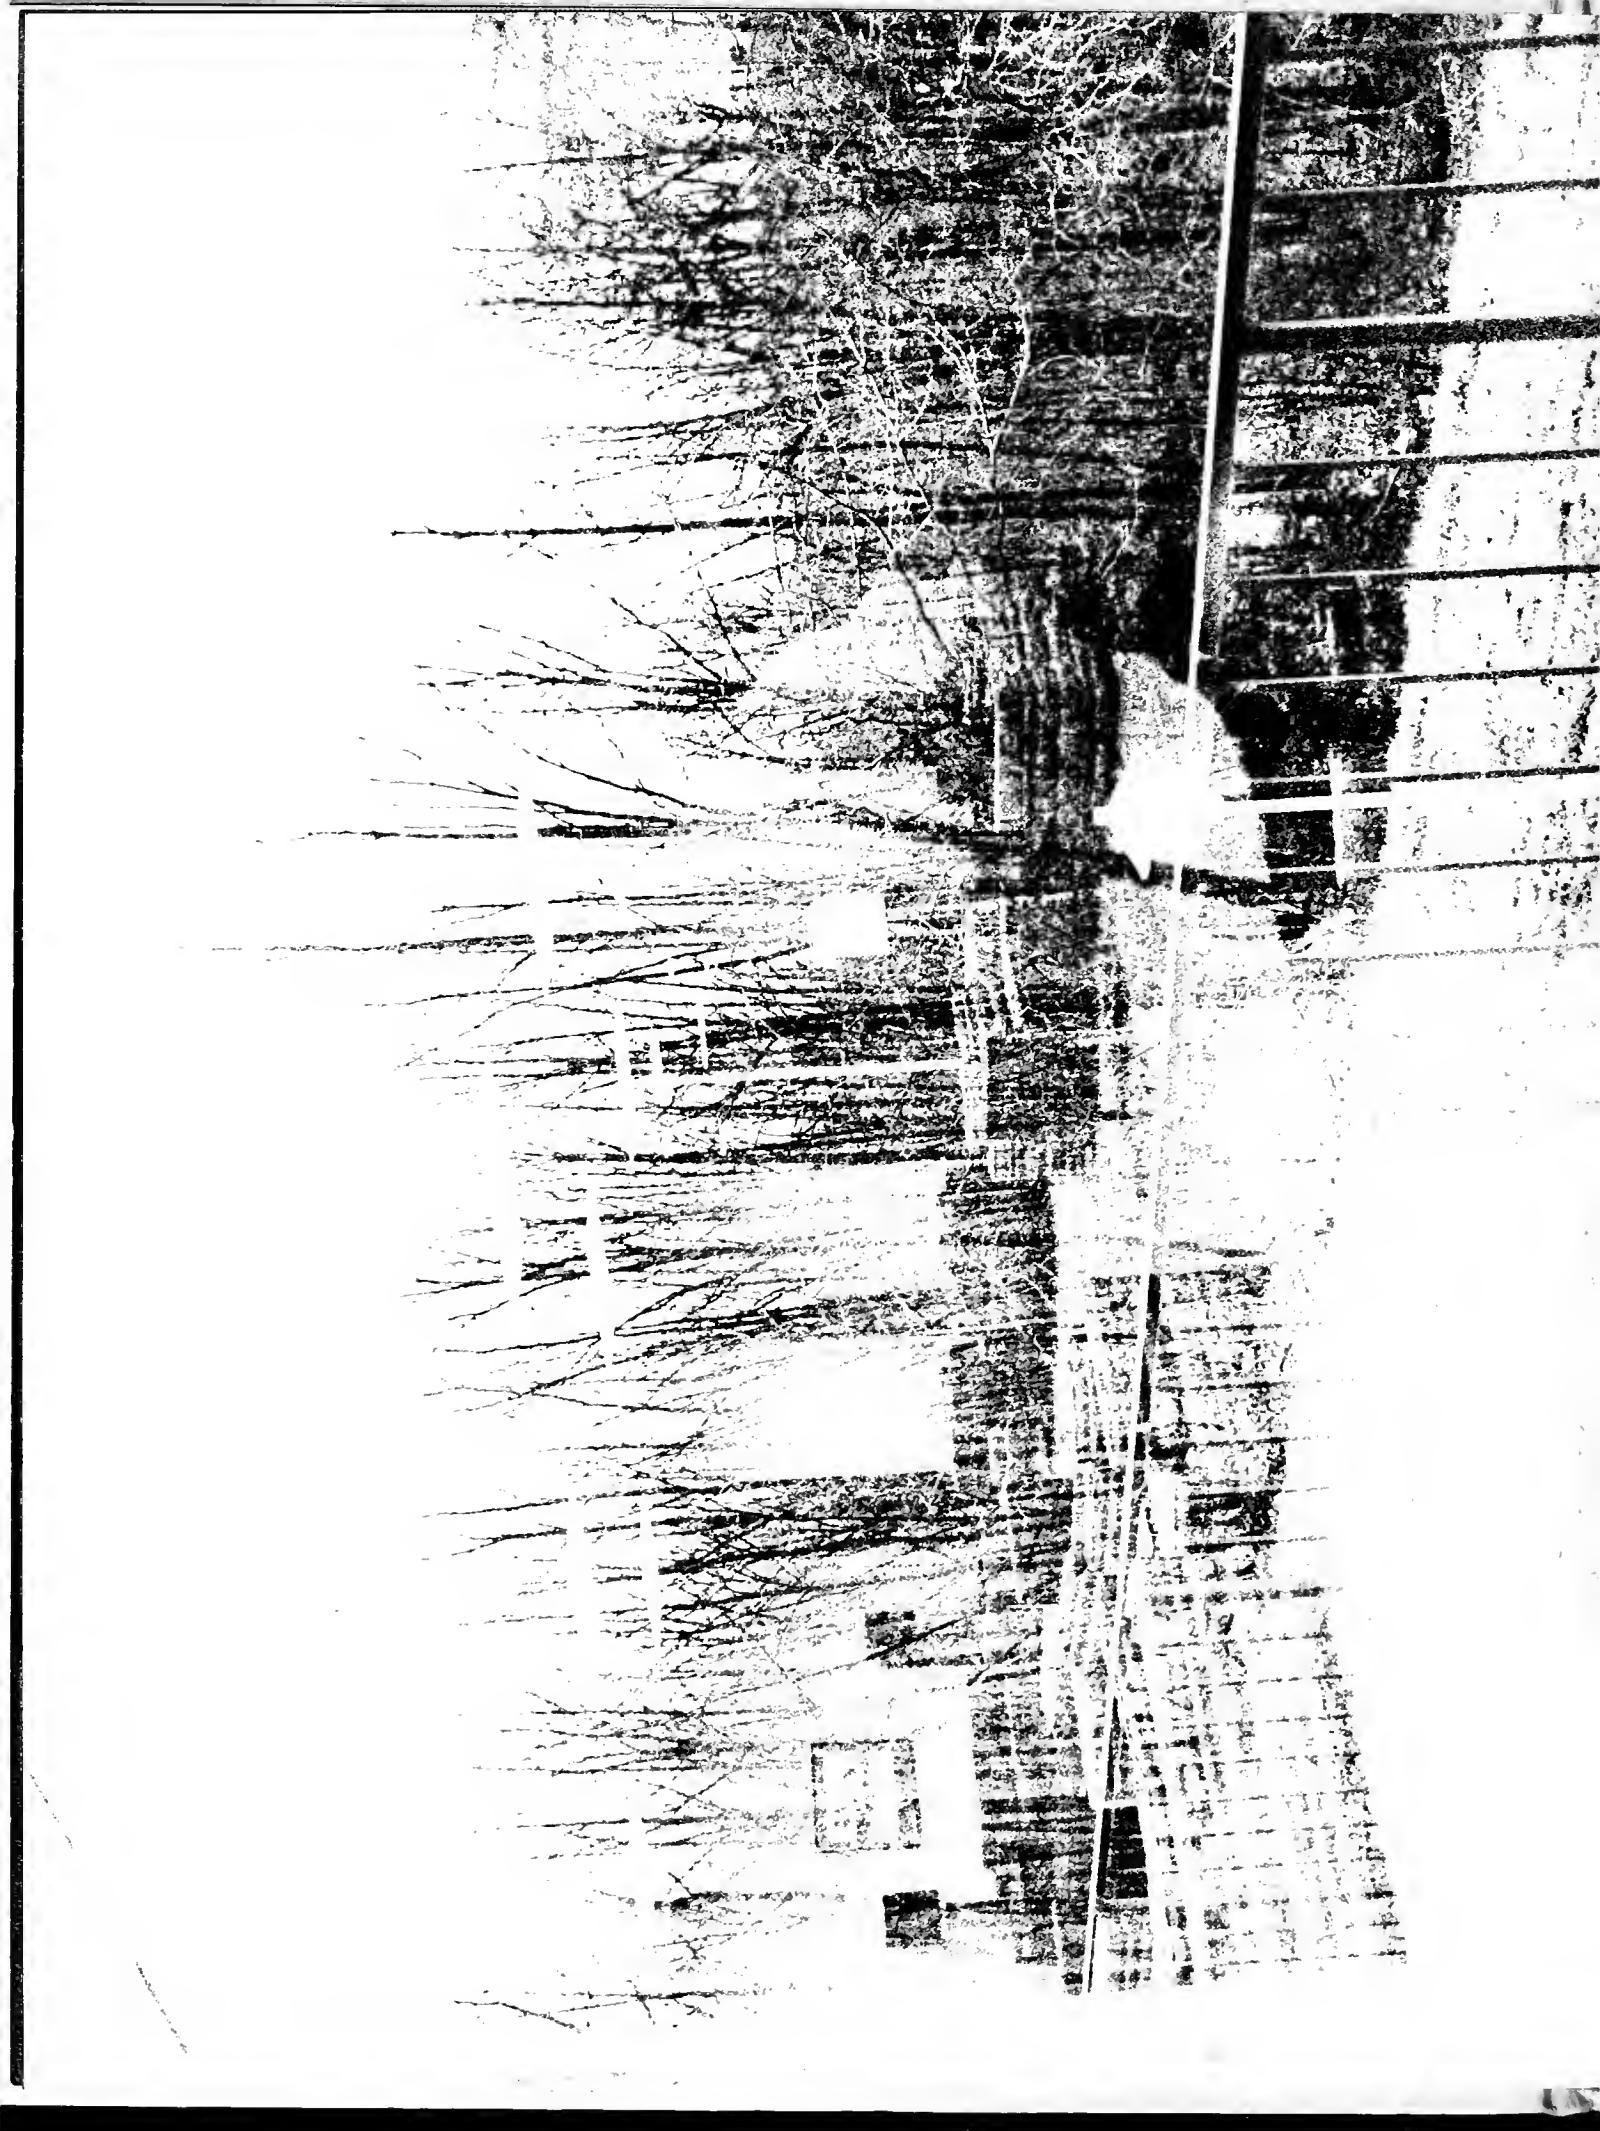

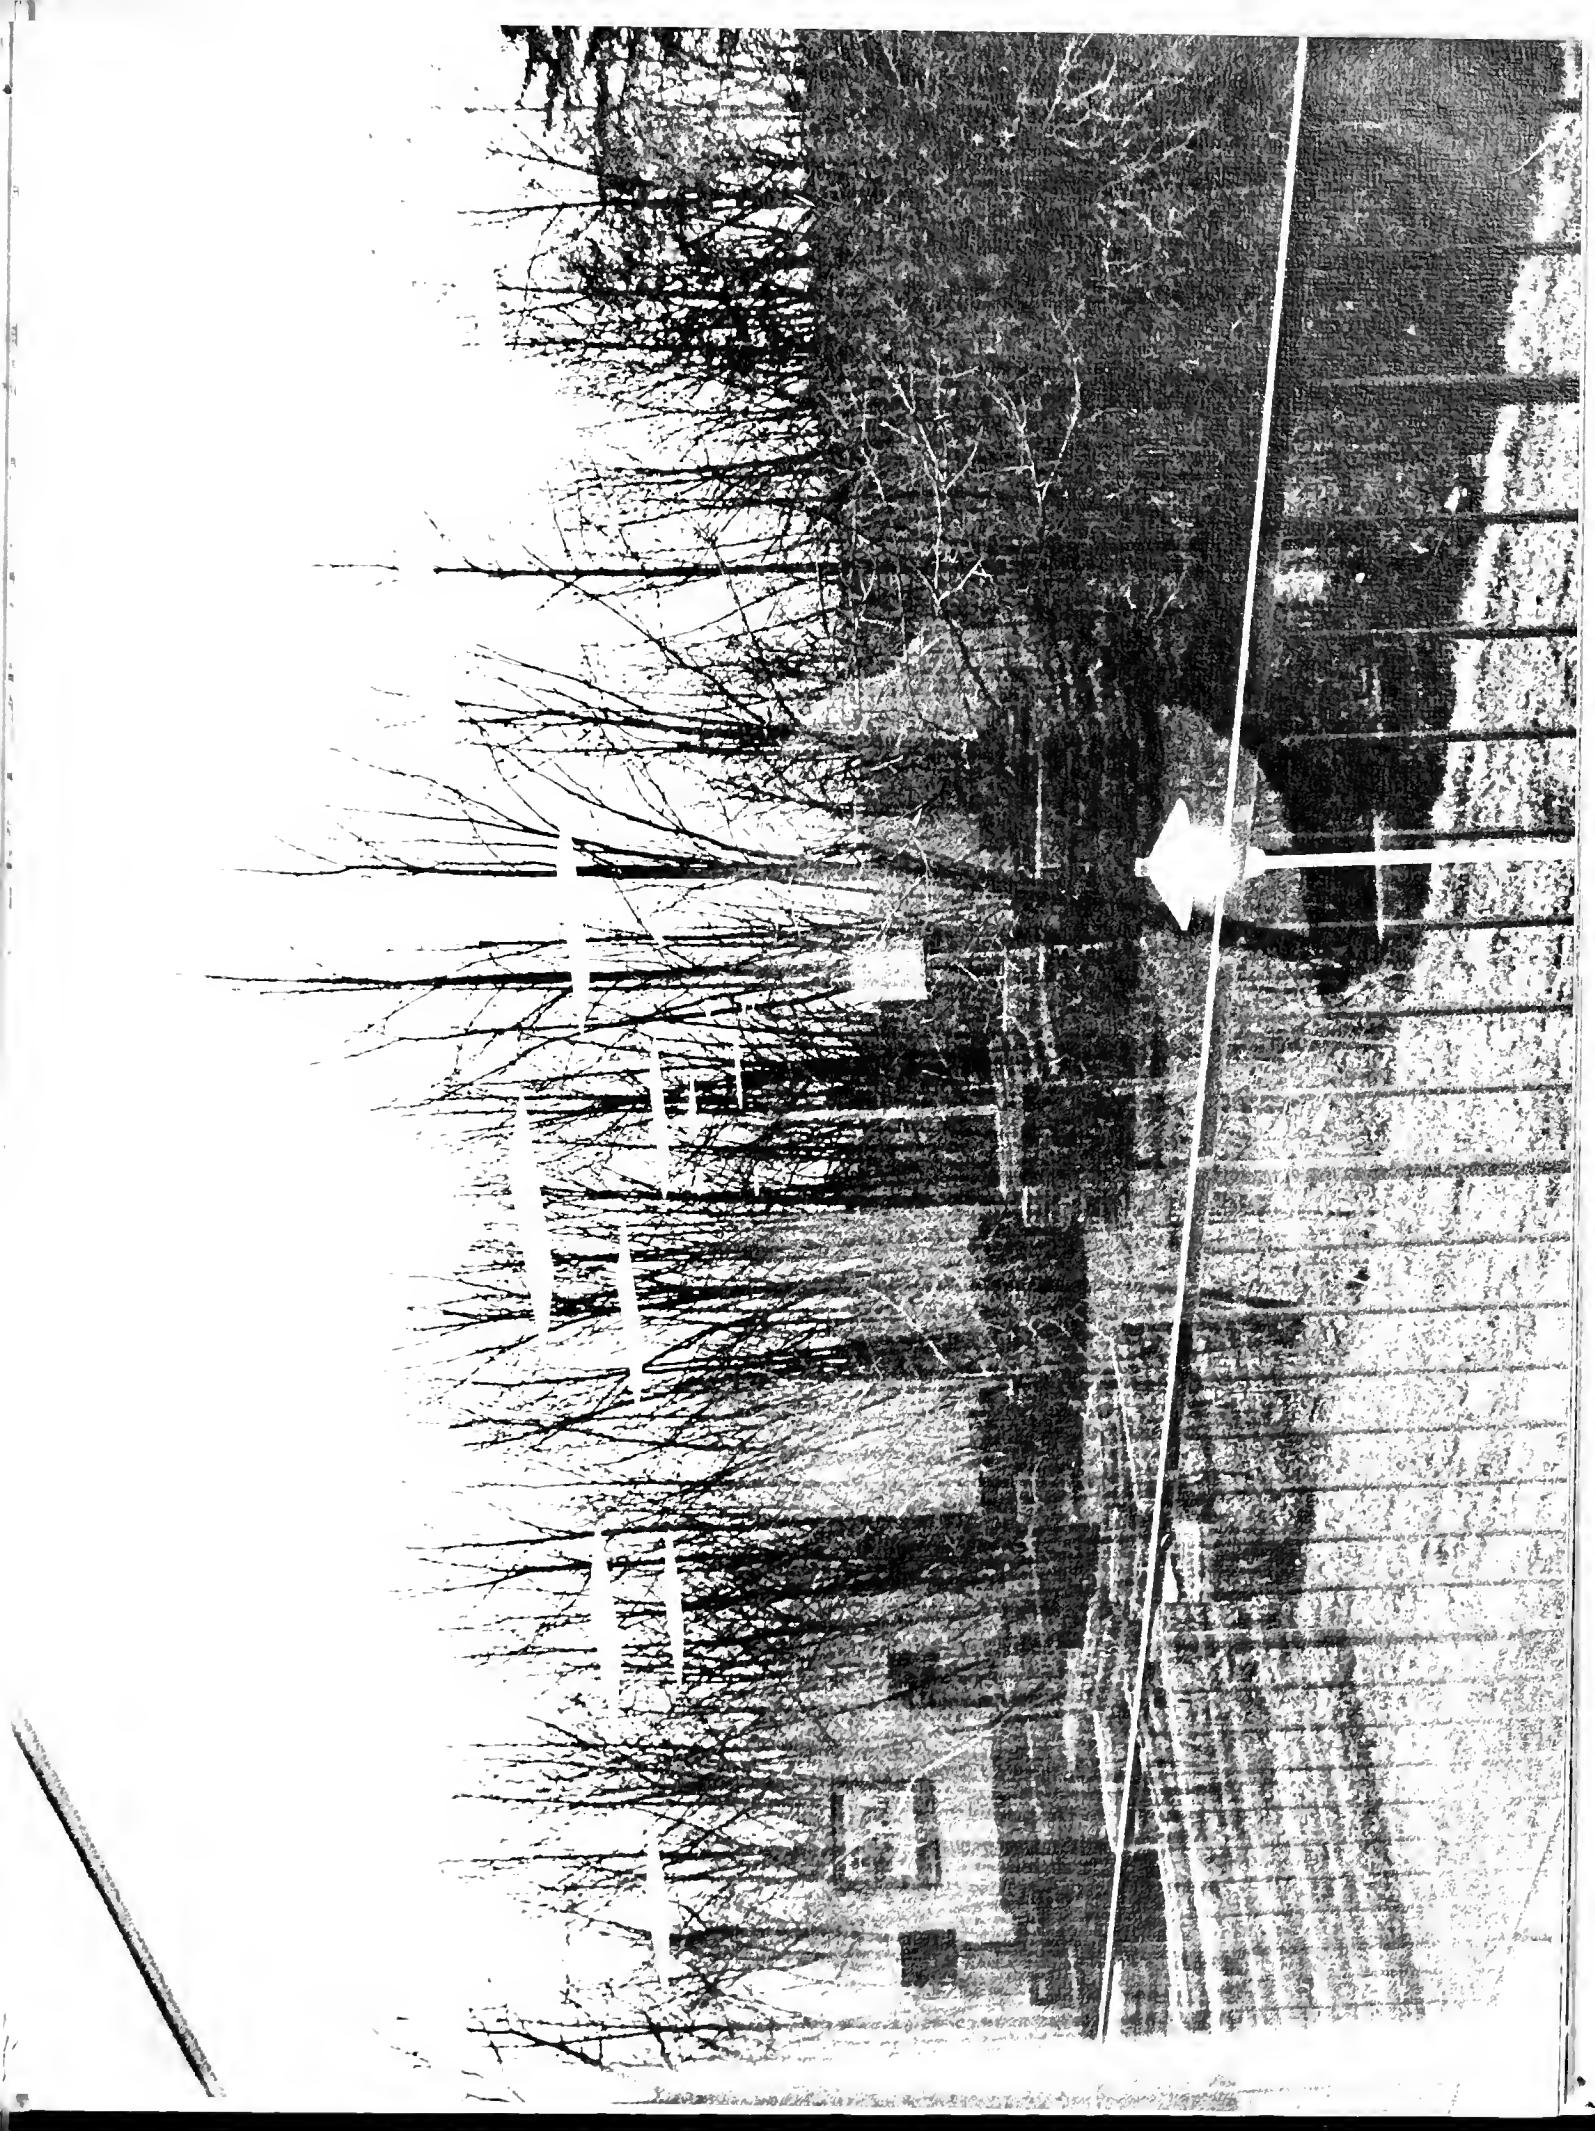

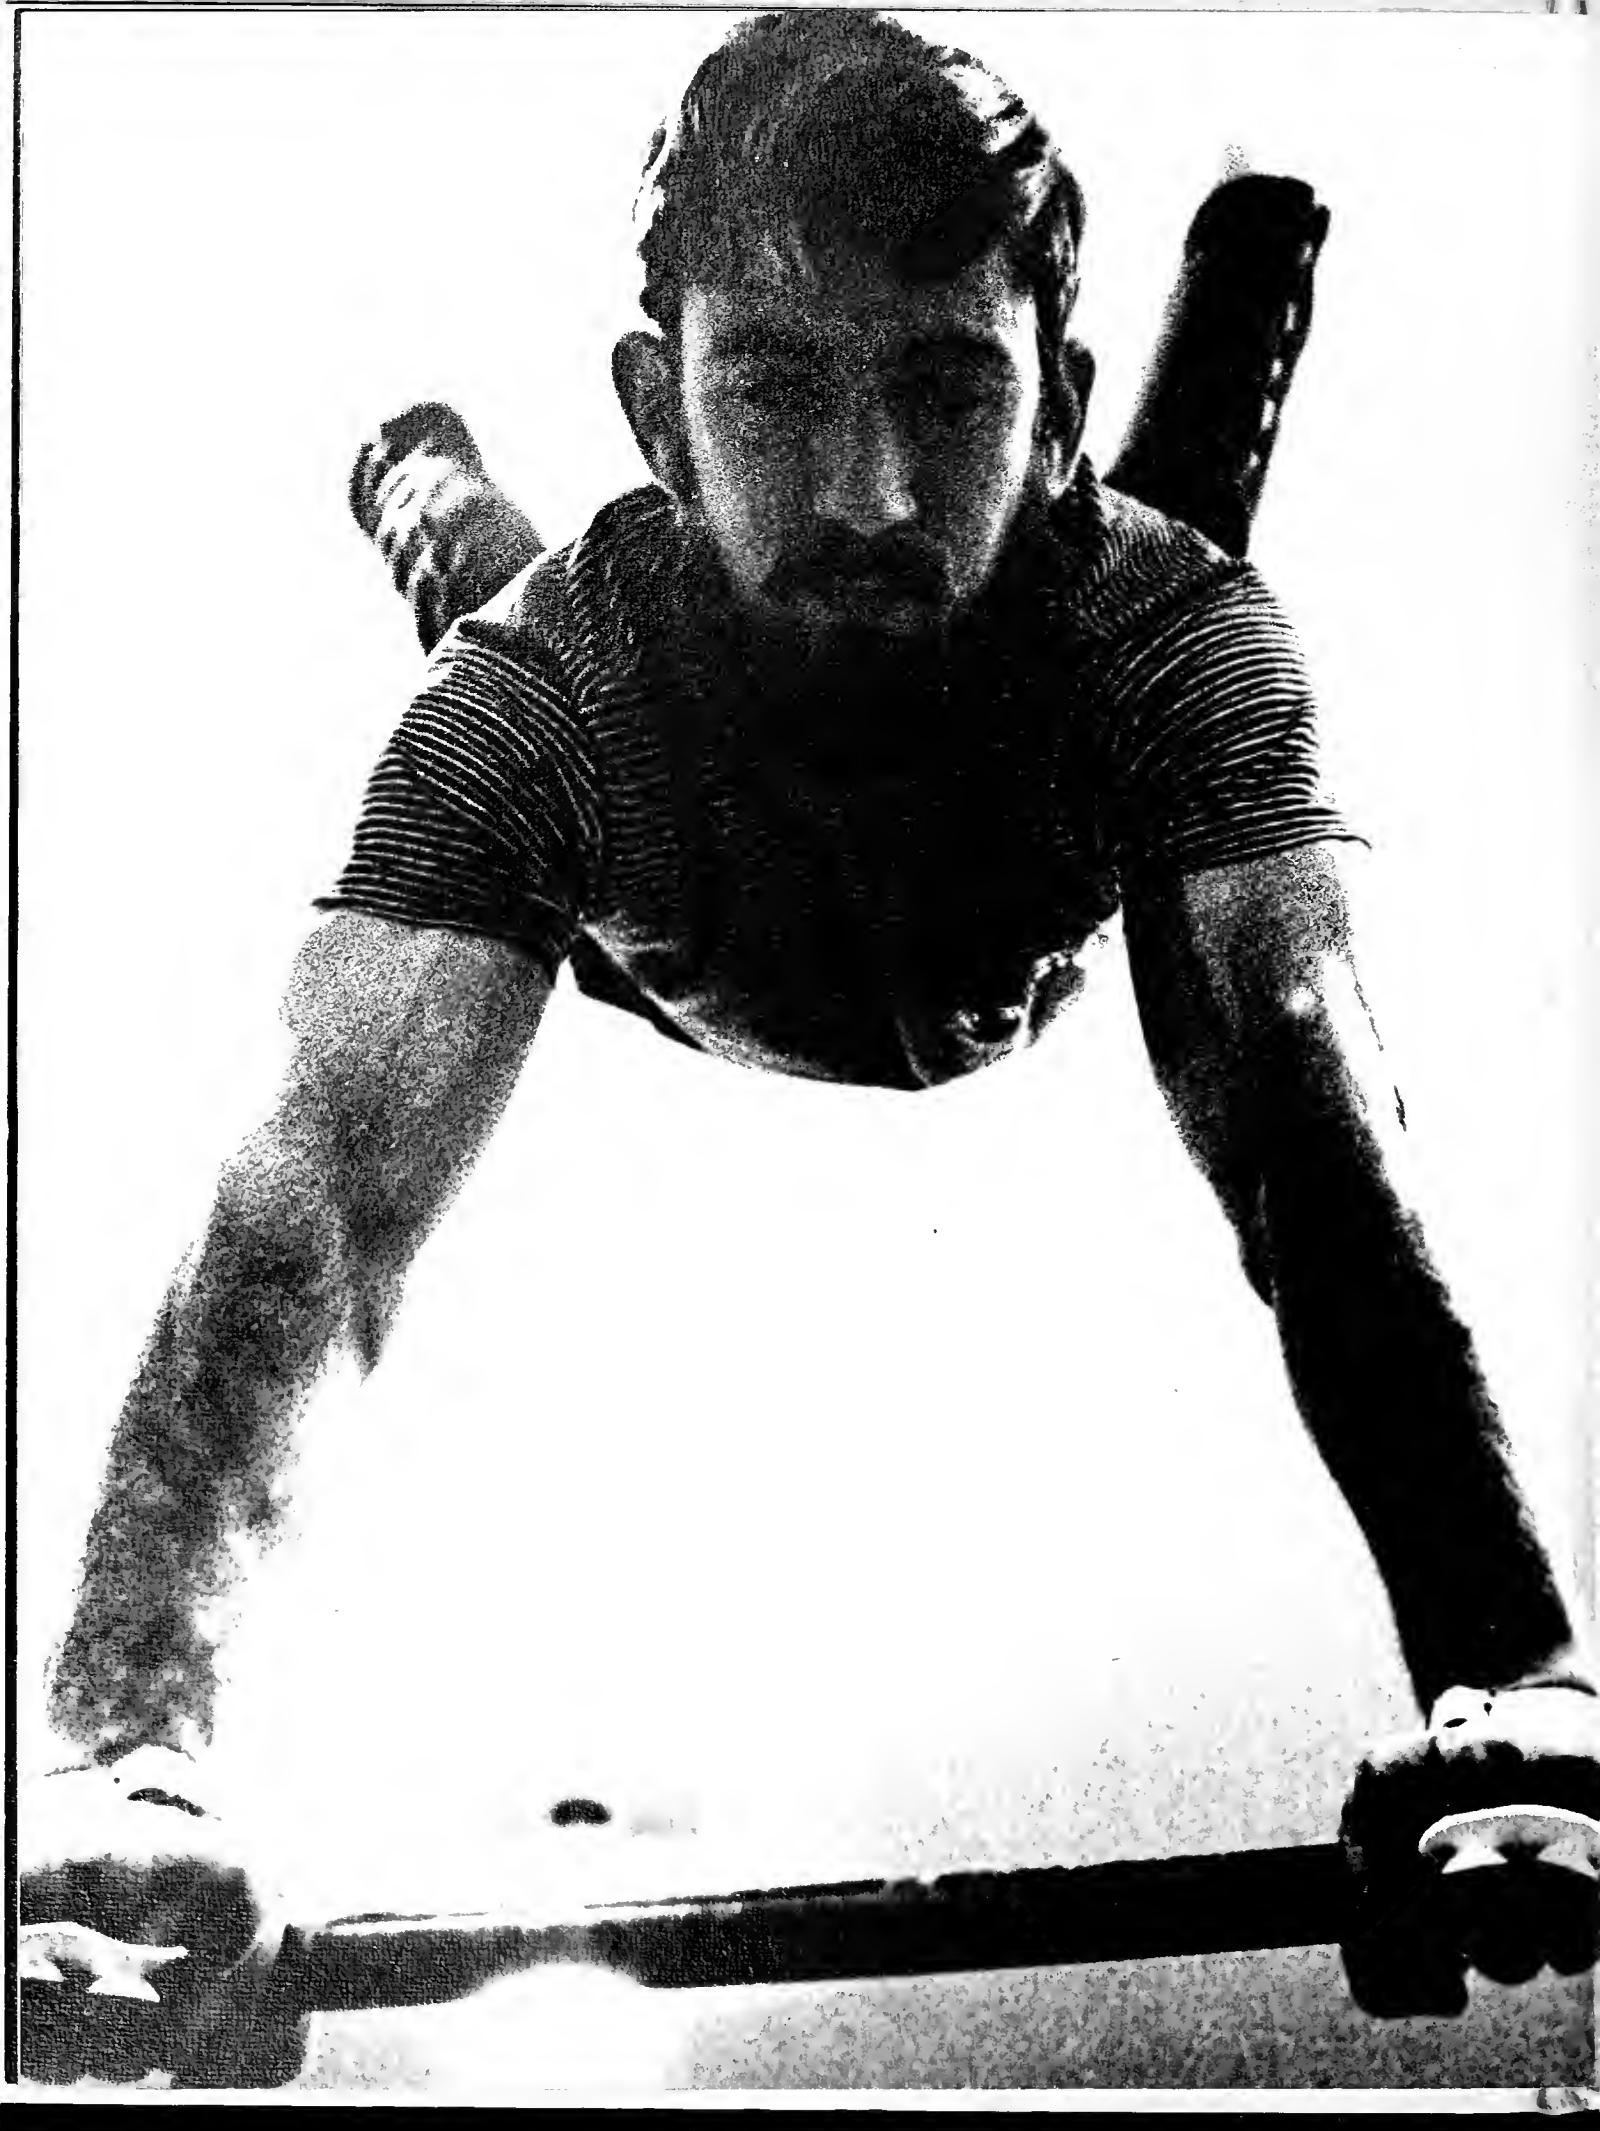

As Rockingham Community College began its initial birth, an acorn was also being started on the maze of life. As the doors opened, the life of the acorn opened also. Then as the college became a symbol for the community, the Quercus borealis became a symbol of this college, a symbol for the college, the administration, the students. With the growth of the tree, so grows this institution. With arms reaching toward the unknown, we strive together, with our roots firmly planted, we go on.

The SAURA derives its title from the last Indian tribe to inhabit Rockingham County. The first recorded existence of the Sauras was in 1540 when Spanish explorers under De Soto came into contact with members of the tribe living in the mountains on the North Carolina-South Carolina border. In the 17th century, the Sauras moved northeast and settled on the Yadkin River. During the latter part of the 17th century, the Sauras moved again and settled in the Dan River Valley. After years of constant warfare with the Senecas, the Sauras left the Dan River Valley in 1710. The Saura tribe then went to Randolph County where they mixed with the Keyanwees. Then in 1715, the combined tribe known as the Cheraw moved to the PeeDee River in South Carolina. Later, their number being decreased by disease, the Cheraw joined the Catawba tribe. By 1750, this tribe had practically vanished.

LOWER SAURA TOWN

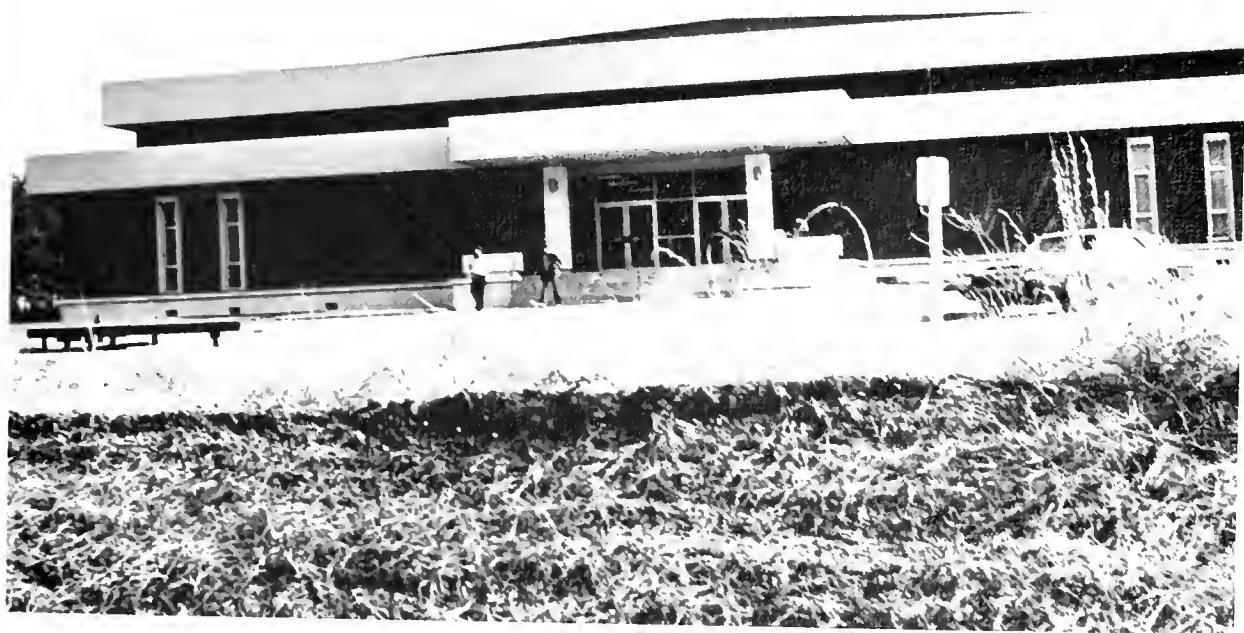

A village of the Saura Indians, abandoned by that tribe in the early 18th century, was on Dan River, $2\frac{1}{2}$ mi. N.E.

ARCHIVES AND HIGHWAY DEPARTMENTS

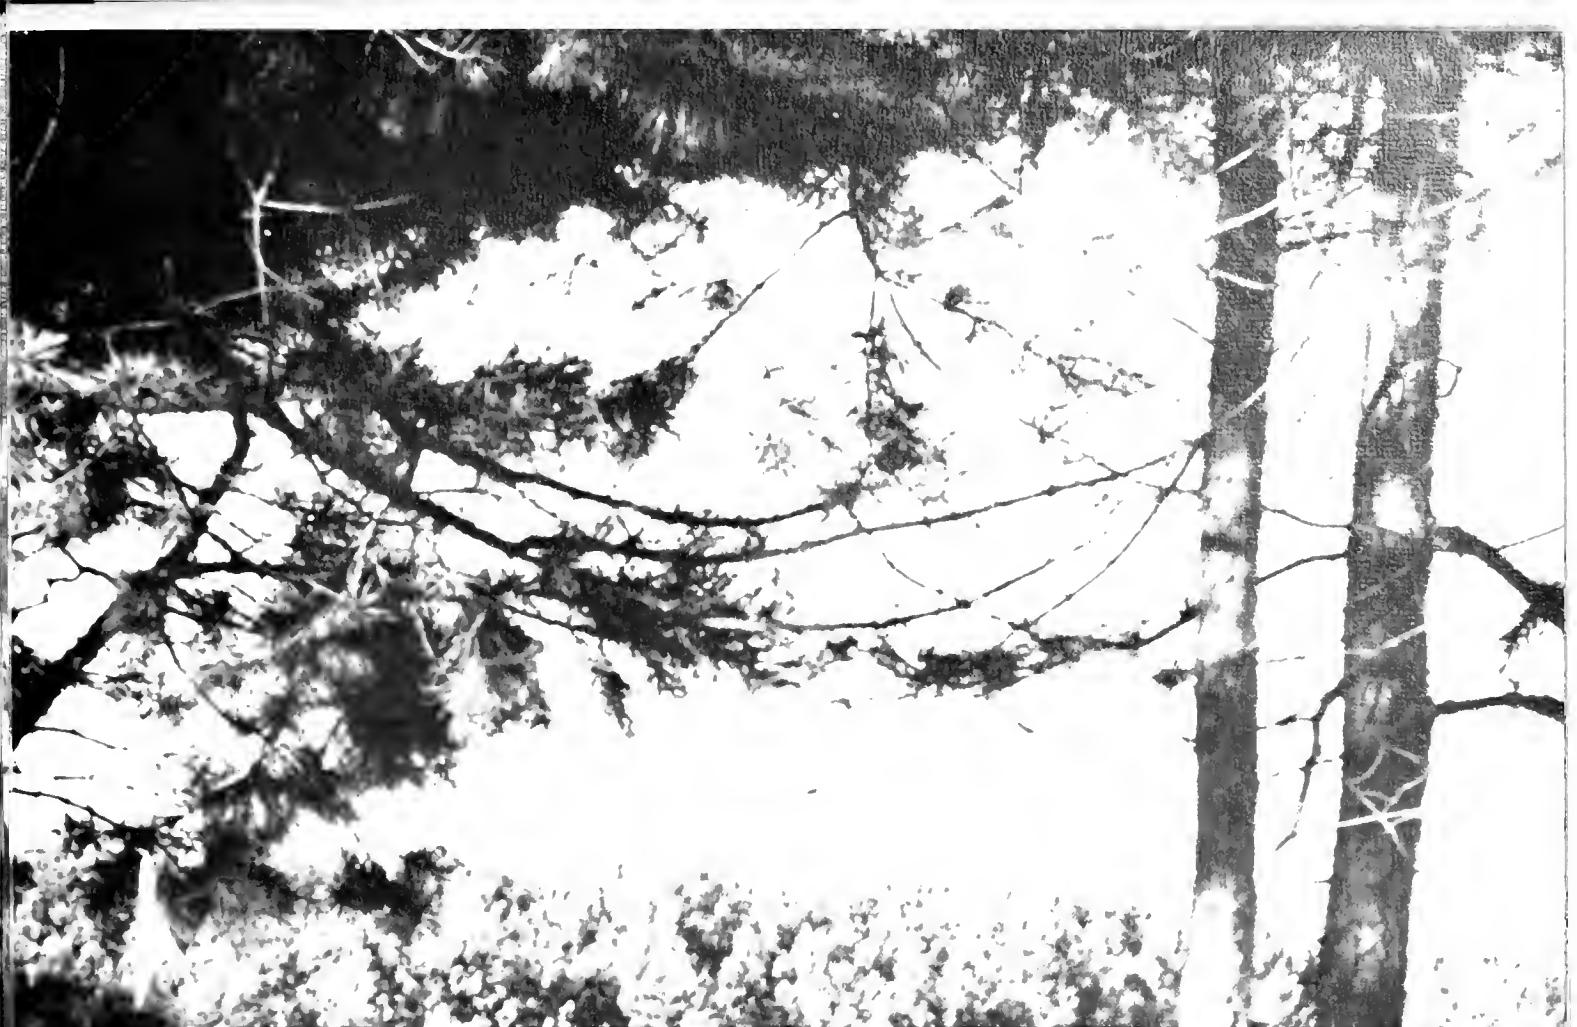

The newest building on campus, the Student Center, is the product of a dream, a dream by a man who saw a need, visioned a solution, then worked toward it.

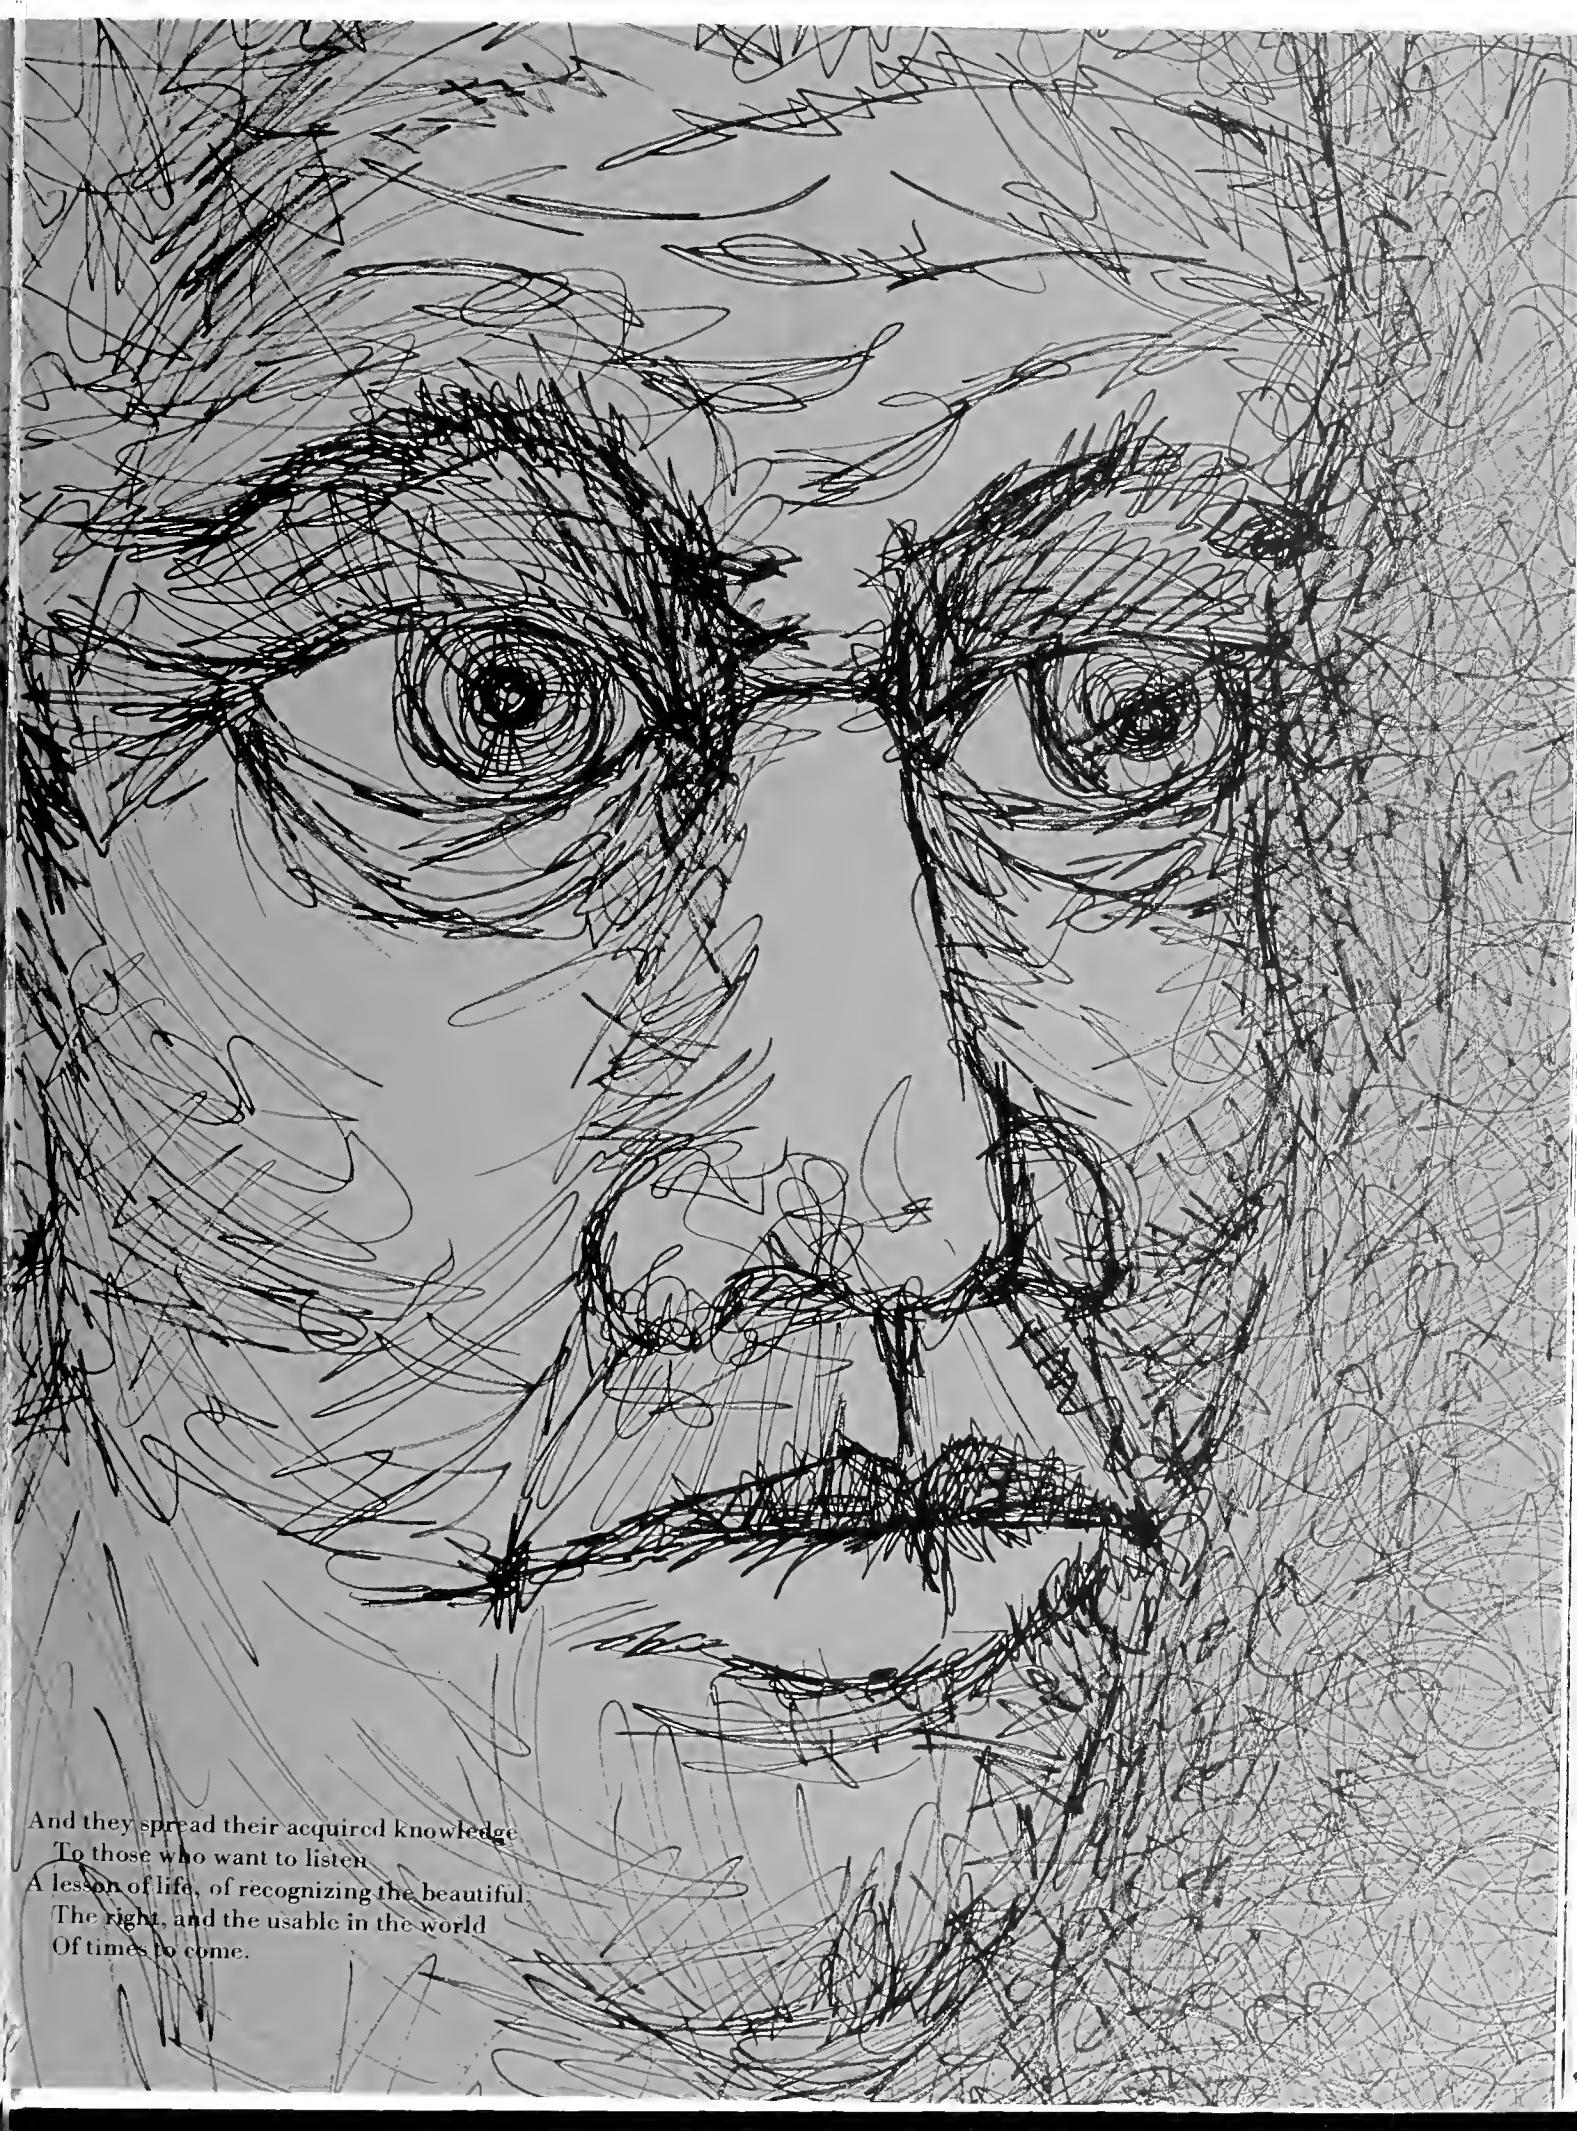

On May 16, 1971, the dream reached reality. The Harold W. Whitcomb Student Center was formally dedicated on that day to fulfill the needs of the students, administration, and the community. It has since become an axis for meeting, learning, relaxation, and recreation. A multi-dimensional unit, it serves the needs of not only students, but Rockingham County citizens as well. Built without the benefit of tax monies through the concern of Whitcomb, businesses, industries, and private citizens, the Student Center also provides a meeting place for various groups within the county.

Therefore, in deep appreciation for his generosity and leadership in the founding of the Student Center, we dedicate the 1972 SAURA to Harold W. Whitcomb.

The children know they can Learn from natures inner resources
They can read the leaves, the bushes, the animals,
And learn as knowledge should be learned.

And they spread their acquired knowledge

To those who want to listen

A lesson of life, of recognizing the beautiful

The right, and the usable in the world

Of times to come.

Peace to me is not only the distinction of wars between fellow men but also the distinction of wars inside of the heads of all mankind.

— Suzanne Boudreax

after Velázquez T. M. Ritchie

A fragile gold-spun fairy princess living in a world that since has vanished into dreams and schemes and yesterdays
waiting for the man to come and take you by your feather hand upon the steed to knightly deeds in knightly ways

— Ritchie

A beacon glowing in the night Towards my soul must shine the light I look and look but cannot see And blunder forth eternally Blindly I search, yet further astray Hope and pray that I'll see the way Lost amidst this blackened cloud
With all my might I cry aloud I surely know this light shall reach some But perhaps for me only death will come!

— Andy Gillain

I've wondered near I've wandered far I've crossed I've passed I've walked through crowds of thousands and no one seemed to see They live only for themselves not for anyone else
They hate but never love
They are lonesome
but never want anyone for fear of losing what they have

— Suzanne Boudreax

HO-HUM

I'M SITTING — WAITING FOR MY MIND TO OPEN
BUT IT WON'T AND THAT WORRIES ME.
IT REMAINS CLOSED TO DAYDREAMS OF WHAT I COULD DO AND WHERE I COULD BE IF I WERE NOT HERE

— Craig Laughlin

Nothing is as great as man's image of himself.
is as beflated
man's vision
himself when shot down by another.

Loneliness is man's broken dreams.
—Phil Pickett

Quietness — the sound of beauty
A bird singing,
two people silently walking Children laughing
dogs barking
The wind playing a melody of leaves A world in perfect harmony.
— Larry Payne

To whom it may concern —
Your world is too heavy man — Your ways are killing me and All other living things —

Is your progress death?
If this is your progress,

Let it now recess
Draw back man
Before
it's Too Late.
Late . . .

TIME IS TOO SLOW FOR THOSE WHO WAIT TOO SWIFT FOR THOSE WHO FEAR TOO LONG FOR THOSE WHO GRIEVE TOO SHORT FOR THOSE WHO REJOICE BUT FOR THOSE WHO LOVE — TIME IS NOT

from, IT'S A BEAUTIFUL DAY

I am young and hung up on reality
But where have they hidden it?

The world is plastic the people in it are sick Prove that?

I was made to be gentle and happy my heart still has love if any one needs a friend or is in need of being a friend

I will care
Yes I will
Because I am me.

Generation Gap

I'm really quite confused you know and still the others try to show.
They babble on from this to that.
But still I wonder where it's really at.

Inside my brain there ticks away,
The seconds, minutes, and a day.
And it's really not so hard, you know,
That from out of you a little understanding could grow.
And clear these clouds from round my head, and free my mind before I am dead.
Because . . .

I'm really quite confused you know.
by Anthony Speneer

Why?

There's a man standing there tellin' me I gotta' go Tell me why.
He says I just a kid and that I don't know,
He ways I'm just a chicken, that's why I will not go, But let me tell you, mister I don't believe in what we're doin'
Tell me why.
The whole damin world isn't worth it's weight in blood.

Tell me why.
Man you can fight your wars,
But leave me livin'
Unless we stop this needless murder,
The world can't go much further.
And with the world in her grave
There will be no one to save.

Tell me why.

— Larry Payne

WITHOUT LOVE

Without love you are like the restless sea Never stopping, Never satisfied Sometimes slowing down, But never stopping Feeling maybe this is the end of loneliness,
And it starts all over again
Rushing back and forth, afraid to stop

Joanne Graham

Standing rather still in someone else's dream unused to having someone else pull your strings fighting off the tugs as best you can

pulled into the horror of the fears of your youth away from the shield of your age and size into the shadows your own dreams deny

only to the morning
you tell yourself
close your eyes and drift with the stream close your eyes
please eyes close light creeping into the corners of your macabre stage keep coming on into the circle you stand frozen in

now to your own dreams and your control

I WISH I KNEW
I wish I knew what to do —
So many questions,
So few really good answers.
Wish I knew who to trust — Everyone knows too much,
No one really knows.
I wish I knew what to do —
So many paths open,

Only a few clear.
Wish I knew what to do — Everyone says they're my friend,
No one cares to prove it.
One big question looms in my face —
What do you plan to do?
Oh, man! how I wish I knew.
Debby Clayton

LIFE IS LIKE A CAROUSEL A CIRCLE OF HOPES AND DISAPPOINTMENTS.

by Joanne Graham

TERRY MCKINNEY

Down highways dark and lonely Down streets bright and gay I've looked into eyes that never see And minds that never function
How do you exist on thoughts and dreams How do you exist from day to day without thoughts of tomorrow Do you run and hide

— Suzanne Boudreaux

You just sit there on your little gold throne, Tellin' all the world what YOU want them to know.
Some day your world is gonna' crumble — YOU'LL see.
Why don't you wake up before it's too late — try to correect your big mistake.
YOU can control their actions but not their minds.
Someday it's going to happen and it won't be long,
Yes it's gonna' fall and YOU'LL be gone.
Then what will YOU do, where will YOU go?
No one to order, no one to command, YOU'LL just be an ordinary man.
YOU'LL have to walk the land looking for food YOU'LL see what the others go through.
I doubt that YOU'LL make it, YOU don't understand the ways of the land.

— Larry Payne

At nature's will.

White and beautiful Snow is sent To cover the garbage Man has spent.

A Dream With the Will

If what you're after is more than a dream it never will matter for what must be must be Of course if your quest is not too far out of reach Climb on, never rest never expecting, always ignoring defeat For if you lack in ability or if you lack in skill It's not as bad as if you have the potential but not the will
For if you have the will and you have the dream then life isn't still but a bright glowing gleam So don't ever let go of the dream that you have
for if you have the will then life will be greater even still!

The wisdom of the wind
Is an inner wisdom, all knowing Guiding, protecting, teaching, and informing All secrets, all knowledge, all knowing A sanctum for experience.

The aged know and They use their wisdom to advance and exist.
They act as the voice of the wind —
The mouth of the learned.

dispersed
we came with little and together we leave with much

we have if nothing else learned
our interdependence upon each other

thus peace we have gained from our inward trip to the sanctuary of self
